What is WikiVet?

- WikiVet is a collaborative initiative between the UK Vetschools to develop a comprehensive on-line peer reviewed veterinary knowledge database. The aim is to cover the entire undergraduate curriculum.
- WikiVet requires registration, which is FREE.
- Although it is a Wiki all content is peer-reviewed, unlike Wikipedia.
- Apart from factual information focusing on the key points within a topic, WikiVet contains a selection of eLearning resources like flashcards, videos, quizzes and other types of media including a very good Interactive Canine Radiographs resource.

WikiVet Content

- Content can be navigated through by Species, Discipline or System and via the dedicated search engine.
- For Pre-Clinical students there is a direct route to make content more easily accessible. This link can be found on the homepage.
- Learning resources are linked into the content and are a valuable tool to make revision more interesting and interactive.
